LONDON (AP)—A new Russian offensive rolled out along the entire Russian front as driving Soviet columns smashed three bridgeheads across the Middle Dnieper River and captured Nevel, 35 miles southwest of Velikie Luki in the north-central front, Moscow announced tonight.

Far to the south, where the Germans were falling back from their last foothold in the Caucasus, the Russians announced they had captured Staro-Tananskaya, 10 miles across the Kerch Strait from the Crimea. The Germans announced last week they were abandoning that town.

The Soviet communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor, said the Russians were back on the offensive along a 900-mile front from near Velikie Luki south to the Kuban.

Court Hears Story Of Visit to Venus

VANCOUVER (CP)—Frederick Hathaway, 42, head of the Aryan Astrological Occult Church of Christ and editor of Canadian Astrology, was convicted by an assize court jury Wednesday on a charge of indecent assault laid following complaints of a woman member of the group.

Hathaway, who was remanded to the end of the Assizes for sentence, told the court he had visited Venus, Mars and other planets. Trees on Venus were 1,000 feet high, he said, but the inhabitants were only two feet high. Mars was small and peopled by red and green men four feet high.

Hathaway said anyone could accompany him to another planet by development of the "occult chord," which he said is a nerve in the brain which can be strengthened by meditation and prayer.

St. Croix Survivor Tells Story Of 2 Torpedoings In 2 Days

TORONTO (CP)—The Daily Star today published under a New York dateline a copyrighted interview with William Allen Fisher, 23, of Black Diamond, Alta., only survivor of the 147 man crew of the Canadian destroyer St. Croix, sunk in the Atlantic recently during a 10-day running battle with German submarines.

Fisher said 60 members of the St. Croix crew spent a night in a whaleboat before their rescue by the British Trigate Itchen, which was sunk Sept. 22, two days after the rescue. A rowboat carrying other survivors sank when men on floats "insisted" on getting into it. The whaleboat picked up 10 men from the British corvette Polyanthus, which had been sunk just before the rescue.

When the Itchen was torpedoed, Fisher leaped over the side, and "as I hit the water there was another explosion and I felt that my stomach was being squeezed through my ears." He spent a night on a raft, and was picked up the next day, along with two members of the Itchen crew.

He plans to leave the British naval receiving station in New York Friday for a 30-day leave, which he will spend at home with his wife.

Let-up in Battle Brings No Rest To East Front Nazis

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW (AP)—The Germans clung tenaciously to their strong defensive positions along the entire Russian front today, while General Mud and his command, rain and flood, gave serious combat to the Red Army.

(The German communique today announced a major Russian attack south of Velikie Luki, northwest of Smolensk and north of Vitebsk, and added that fighting was still in progress. On the Taman Peninsula in the Caucasus and in the region south of Zaporozhe, the Germans said local fighting took place.)

Nazis Move Men; Attempt to Hold North Termoli

NEW YORK (AP)—Strongly indicating Germany has little hope of holding Rome, the Berlin radio said today the seat of Mussolini's new "government" would be moved to northern Italy this week-end.

By NOLAN NORGAARD
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS (AP)—The battle for Rome has begun, with the Germans launching powerful infantry and armored attacks in the Termoli area, along the Adriatic, where the British 8th Army of Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery stands 130 miles east and slightly north of the capital city.

Official announcements at Allied headquarters today said the Germans had shifted an entire armored division from the west side of the peninsula and thrown it into an onslaught against Gen. Montgomery's forces, which include the Canadian 1st Division.

Gen. Montgomery's troops also have been reinforced for the showdown fight, and have beaten off the attacks, the communique announced.

Two British destroyers brought naval artillery to the aid of the 8th Army, driving boldly into the narrow Adriatic and pounding railway and enemy military targets to the northwest of Termoli, countering and dislocating the German attack just as naval forces were used to assist in the offensive against Naples.

Montgomery's Army Gets Air Support

The Northwest African Air Force also was intensely active over Gen. Montgomery's front for the first time in weeks.

Both R.A.F. and U.S. fighter planes, swept northward from Termoli as far as Pescara on the Adriatic, and inland as far as Alfedena, halfway to Rome on the Termoli-Rome highway.

While fresh German tank units hastened to oppose the 8th Army's flanking threat, the Germans rushed the task of fortifying the Volturno River 20 miles north of Naples against Lt. Gen. Mark Clark's 5th Army, which reported dogged progress northward, despite extensive demolitions and heavy rains.

Radio France at Algiers, in a broadcast reported by Reuters, said today the Allied 5th Army is only three miles from Capua, one of the most important centres of enemy opposition to the advance on Rome.

Further information from the front said the crossing of the Volturno by 5th Army elements, which was reported Wednesday, was only along the main tributary of the Volturno system, commonly known as the Calore.

The German defences on the north bank of the Volturno itself across the plain from the mountains to the Tyrrhenian Sea are still intact, it was stated here.

Although the crossing of the Calore, an eastward extension of the Volturno, constituted a flanking threat to the enemy's river line, a military spokesman said the Germans were believed to be holding the northern bank of the Volturno "in some strength."

The headquarters communique said merely that "the 5th Army has made further progress and is working forward to the line of the river Volturno."

Favorite Position Since Hannibal Era

This stream has been a favorite defence position for battles in Italy from the time of Hannibal, and the Germans were apparently ready to take advantage of its possibilities for a strong delaying action.

(The BBC said the town of Capua, on the Volturno directly north of Naples, was within Allied artillery range.

(Today's German communique said that "repeated enemy infantry and tank attacks" were repulsed at the Volturno, and that "embittered fighting" was continuing in the Termoli area. It admitted a retreat "in the southern Apennines.")

Fighting a strategic battle for the benefit of both Gen. Clark and Gen. Montgomery, heavy bombers meanwhile flew a 1,200-mile roundtrip from north Africa to shatter the main railway junction in the Venice area.

Subs in Mid-East Sink 6 Nazi Ships

LONDON (CP)—British submarines operating in the Mediterranean have sunk six German or German-controlled ships and damaged two others, the Admiralty announced today.

One submarine, the Admiralty added, penetrated the northern Aegean Sea to bombard the coastal town of Stratoni. Hits were scored on a factory and the pier was severely damaged.

The communique said the submarines, operating as far north along the Italian shore as the Gulf of Genoa, sank a medium-sized munitions ship and a small troop transport, while a medium-sized freighter was damaged by torpedo fire.

Another British undersea raider torpedoed two supply vessels off the northern coast of Corsica. The Admiralty said one vessel broke in two and sank, while the other was badly damaged.

Other victories were chalked up in the Adriatic north of the Italian town of Bari and in the Mediterranean near the French naval base of Toulon.

As is customary, the submarines were not named, but their commanders were announced as follows: Lieut. E. J. D. Turner, Lieut. W. H. Kett, Lieut. A. D. Piper, Lieut. L. E. Herrick and Lieut. M. L. C. Crawford.

Kaiser Takes Over Aircraft Company

NEW YORK (AP)—Henry J. Kaiser of shipbuilding fame was elected today President of the Brewster Aeronautical Corporation, and said he would assume active management of the company, which has been criticized for failure to increase its output.

Kaiser, previously elected chairman of the board, succeeded Frederick Riebel Jr., navy trouble shooter, who resigned to accept a special assignment for the navy.

The aircraft concern had been taken over by the government and for several weeks was under direct government control.

511 U.S. Killed Since Salerno

WASHINGTON (AP)—War Secretary Stimson reported today that U.S. army casualties during the four weeks since bitterly-contested landings began at Salerno, Italy, total 8,307, of whom only 511 now are listed as killed in action.

The Secretary told his press conference that 5,428 American soldiers have been wounded in the campaign on the Italian mainland, and 2,368 are missing.

"I understand," Stimson said, "that this is somewhat greater than the total casualties suffered by the British components of the 5th Army."

Lord Mountbatten Takes Up Command In Southeast Asia

DELHI (CP)—Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, Allied commander-in-chief in Southeast Asia, arrived here today by plane to take over his new post.

Wearing a semitropical Royal Navy uniform, Admiral Mountbatten was met at the airport by a large gathering of British, U.S. and Chinese officers.

Original leader of the famed commandos and cousin of the King, Admiral Mountbatten is the first British officer to be placed in supreme command of Allied forces in an entire theatre of war.

His appointment was announced Aug. 25, immediately following the Quebec conference of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

The new military command in Southeast Asia was created to intensify the war against the Japanese in Burma.

As defined by unofficial sources in London, Mountbatten's command ranges from the waters of Madagascar east to Sumatra and spans French Indo-China, Thailand, Malaya and Burma. U.S. Secretary of War Stimson has asserted the Southeast Asia command does not overlap that of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander-in-chief in the Southwest Pacific.

Geographically, Mountbatten's Southeast Asia theatre has been defined as stopping at a line running south from Indo-China through the China Sea, passing between Sumatra and Java, responsibility for all the area from this line east to Guadalcanal in the Solomon rests with MacArthur.

Alfred Hall Guilty On Second Count

VANCOUVER—A second conviction against Alfred G. Hall, 51, former Victoria and Saanich boy, for an offense involving an 18-year-old boy was returned in Assize Court today by a 12-man jury who were out less than 15 minutes.

Hall, who conducted his own defence, was charged with gross indecency.

He was convicted of a similar charge last week in a case involving a 15-year-old boy.

Chief Justice Farris will impose sentence at the end of the Assizes. Dugald Donaghy, K.C., prosecuted.

The accused practiced as a psychologist and dietitian at Human Adjustment Institute, 736 Granville, and was director-general of World Fellowship of Faith and Service.

LONDON (CP)—Maj. Gen. H. F. G. Letson of Ottawa has arrived in Britain by air on a visit described as "routine." It was his second trip to Britain since his appointment as adjutant-general of the Canadian forces.

Chinese Hurl Japs Back In East Stage Surprise Counterattacks

CHUNGKING (AP)—Chinese forces, counterattacking against a new Japanese offensive on the east China front, have sent the invaders reeling back from a number of newly-captured points, front line dispatches said today.

The Chinese were reported closing in on Suancheng and Kwangteh, 60 and 90 miles, respectively, from the former capital of Nanking.

A Japanese column in the Kwangteh sector, the dispatches said, was falling back in disorderly retreat. Chinese forces were reported to be pushing back rapidly toward Siaofeng, 35 miles northwest of Hangchow, and another Japanese force occupying a village near Suancheng was reported encircled.

U.S. fighter planes broke up two Japanese attempts to raid American air bases on Monday and Tuesday, headquarters announced today.

Jap Ferryship Sunk Near Home

NEW YORK (AP)—An Allied submarine penetrated Tushima Straits and sank the ferry steamship Konron Maru, which plied between Shimonoseki on the main Japanese island of Honshu, and Fushu, Korea, the Japanese radio said today.

Quoting a railway ministry announcement, Domei news agency said in a Tokyo broadcast that 70 of 676 crew and passengers had been rescued from a rough sea.

Domei said the attack was made Oct. 5.

The steamship, which plied between Shimonoseki on the principal Japanese island of Honshu and Fusan, Korea, was on its regular ferry run, the broadcast said.

The announcement said the ship was hit by a single torpedo and sank "after several seconds."

It described the site of the attack as in the vicinity of Oki Island, which lies in the Tushima Strait between Japan and Korea separating the East China Sea and the Sea of Japan.

In reporting the receipt of the Tokyo broadcast, the U.S. Office of War Information said that to penetrate those waters "an Allied submarine would have to dare risks almost, if not as great, as those that confronted the U.S. submarine that made its way into Yokohama harbor."

Japs Make Aussies Build War Monuments

MELBOURNE (CP)—The Japanese are putting Australian war prisoners to work building victory monuments 288 feet high, near the Ford factory on Singapore Island. This came to light today in a letter from a native Indian army officer, Capt. G. S. Parab Singh, who recently escaped from Malaya to India.

Spruce Log Camp Has Stopped Work

VANCOUVER (CP)—At least one Queen Charlotte Island spruce logging camp has stopped work in protest against the delay of its operating company in signing a union agreement, Nigel Morgan, international board member of International Woodworkers of America (I.W.A.), said today.

He said he had received a telegram announcing the work stoppage from officers of the I.W.A. sub-local at the Skedan's Bay camp of the Kelley Logging Company, one of three operators who have refused to sign agreements recognizing the I.W.A. as bargaining agency for some 700 loggers producing spruce for warplane construction.

Milton Acquitted

VANCOUVER (CP)—John Milton was acquitted in Assize Court today on a charge of receiving $203 of a $400 haul from a Victoria Safeway safe-blowing last December. No witnesses were heard.

Chief Justice Wendell Farris directed nine men and three women jurors to acquit the accused. The crown's case was given by Carew Martin.

Canadians Surround, Take Town Defended By Germans

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst
One respectfully submits that it would have a salutary effect on the world around if we could have a special official declaration that the heaviest punishment compatible with civilized practice will be dealt out to all Japanese who had anything to do with the beheading of the captive Allied airman in the Pacific theatre, and that any other instances of such savagery will meet similar retribution. It would be a great thing for Allied morale, and would create both moral and physical fear in the camp of a brutal enemy.

The Japanese do experience fear—fear not only for their hides, but, strangely enough, for their reputations among respectable peoples. President Roosevelt said the worst thing he could devise in the way of comment on the beheading was to call the Nipponese uncivilized for perpetrating this act, because nothing gets under the skin of a Japanese more than to be called barbaric.

WOULD PUNISH TOJO
Still this would seem to be the time for us to reiterate in fitting language that we do intend to make the enemy pay for every atrocity we can prove. Punishment should apply not only to those who carry out atrocities, but to those who order them. In the case of the beheaded airman, justice should reach clear back to Premier Gen. Tojo, whose policies call for such barbarities. The Allied weakness is that they yelled "wolf" too much in the last war. We were going to hang the Kaiser, and going to do this and going to do that. However, we didn't do anything—and let nobody doubt that the Germans and the Japs remember that. Gen. MacArthur now seems to have provided the Allies with a perfect case to work on. His headquarters even identified the Japanese officers who committed this act. The sword was wielded by Sub-Lt. Komai, and the next senior officer responsible was Lt.-Cmdr. Tsukiohka. Why not officially name these criminals as "wanted for murder" and let this be the start of a systematic campaign in all theatres to pin down atrocities for punishment?"

Troops Still Work On Halifax Docks

HALIFAX (CP)—Several hundred servicemen remained on waterfront docks here today, handling freight from trains to the sheds as 400 regular freight handlers continued their strike into its seventh day. In the holds of loading ships, however, all was back to normal as the port's longshoremen bustled about stowing away the cargo following the wind-up of their two-day sympathy walkout.

Executive and members of the Halifax local, Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees (A.F.L.) were still undecided on their future action despite long discussions Wednesday night. It is reported they are awaiting word from Canadian Vice-president Frank Hall, Montreal, on the outcome of his conferences Wednesday in Ottawa with Labor Minister Mitchell.

Practically all the more than 1,500 longshoremen are expected to be back on the job today, following Wednesday's decision to resume work on the instructions of President Joseph Ryan, New York, of the parent International Longshoremen's Association. They started back to work at 1 p.m. Wednesday, and by nightfall nearly 800 were reported at their posts.

Dissension was reported in their ranks, however, with threats coming from "card members" that they would pull away from the union and from an affiliate of the C.I.O. These stevedores are temporary members of the union who came to work on the waterfront since the outbreak of war, and although they pay heavy dues, they have no vote in union undertakings and are excluded from meetings and a sore point with them.

Fight Way Through Mortar Fire; Battle Stubborn Rearguard Action

By WILLIAM STEWART
WITH CANADIANS IN ITALY
(Delayed, CP) — Under the heaviest artillery barrage laid down on their front in Italy, Canadian infantry today (Oct. 5) swept up a valley and around a town stubbornly defended by German rearguards.

Eventually the Canadians took the town. German troops believed to be paratroopers and possibly elements of an armored unit held the ground dominating both the hilltop, a ridge high on the north side of the deep valley, and the town itself. Their mortars played on roads up which the Canadians were approaching the town.

The Canadians occupied the town Sunday, Oct. 3, under constant fire from well-concealed enemy positions. By mid-afternoon Canadian infantrymen attacked the area behind a thick concentration of artillery fire, pushing across muddy hills while their big guns battered the slopes leading to the town.

The attack was made across country, avoiding the exposed gravel highway and in addition to the artillery, which was reminiscent of the great landing battle the Canadians had at Reggio Calabria, there was also support from fighter-bombers.

Canadian gunners dug positions for their 25-pounders and long-barrelled medium guns which were dragged up behind a ridge over which they threw shells at the Germans.

Long lines of ammunition lorries rolled up and down a bumpy road during the morning. Shell cases were stacked high in preparation for the shooting.

Troops in mud-stained tropical uniforms formed up by the roadside out of sight of the enemy. They took a quick meal, then went forward after the commander of the Canadian forces had conferred with his artillery and infantry commanders.

WATCHED TROOPS
Then the commander climbed to a hill, from which he watched effects of the barrage and the infantry attack as it unfolded far below as though on a scale model of a battleground.

During a pause in the barrage enemy 88-millimetre guns dropped a few rounds near Canadian gun positions, causing soldiers who were watching as spectators to scurry for cover. However, the German fire stopped as soon as the barrage was resumed.

The barrage continued mercilessly for more than an hour and kept German heads down while the attacking Canadians clambered up hill and down dale toward the enemy defences.

The slope before the town was blanketed with a thick, white smoke shroud before the infantry moved up, and the area was pounded by hundreds of rounds of Canadian high explosives which could be seen smashing in among the trees, raising brown clouds of dust amid buildings on the town's outskirts.

HEARD MACHINE GUNS
From our place of observation there was not a sound of engagements in the valley until the heavy guns' thunder died down. Then the chatter of automatic weapons could be heard.

The infantry skirted the town and swung around on either side toward the tall ridge on the far side, from which the Germans poured down machinegun and mortar fire. Beyond the ridge the troops could see hill after hill, each affording an excellent defensive position from which the Germans may be able to slow down the advance to the interior to a snail's pace.

Machinists Back In A.F. of L. Fold

BOSTON (AP) — The American Federation of Labor today welcomed back the International Association of Machinists as the largest of its affiliated unions. Secretary George Meany announced the A.F.L.'s total paid membership now is 6,564,141. The Machinists' membership as of Aug. 31 was officially announced as 625,000.

The Machinists' membership made it the No. 1 A.F.L. Union in size, a rank long held by the Brotherhood of Teamsters. The Teamsters paid on 602,900 members last year. The Machinists quit the Federation last May 31 after an extended row over jurisdictional rights, involving principally the Carpenters' Union. The terms of reconciliation, however, were not immediately announced.

A.P. Writer Visits Balkans; Nazis Have Hands Full

2 German Divisions Kept Busy; Partizans, Chetniks Not United

Daniel de Luce, Associated Press war correspondent who has covered the war from its inception in Poland through the Balkans, Burma, Africa and Italy, has been back to the Balkans to obtain the first eyewitness account of the situation there in 2 1/2 years. In the following story he tells of conditions in those troubled countries.

By DANIEL DE LUCE
 AT A PARTIZAN BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS IN YUGOSLAVIA (Delayed, AP)—German strength is spread dangerously thin along the seagirt, mountainous "under-belly" of Yugoslavia and the Nazis know it.

More fiction than truth has been printed in the outside world about military events in Dalmatia. When 12 Italian divisions disintegrated as a fighting force Sept. 9, claims that the partizans controlled all the coast were fantastic, but the fact remains that two German divisions, "Der Teufel" and "Prinz Eugen," had their hands more than full in attempting to restore the situation.

Here is the latest information, made available to me by the commander of this partizan brigade headquarters:

The Italian port of Trieste remains in tight German grasp, although street disorders occurred Sept. 9 after the Italian armistice became known.

Partizans recruited from Slovenians of the countryside exercise authority over most of the Italian peninsula province of Giulia, between Trieste and Fiume. The Germans, however, are in the coastal towns of Parenzo and Rovigno, and may be expected to take back more of Giulia if they are seriously harassed.

Fiume TRIUMPH
 Fiume was a brilliant triumph for the partizans. Disarming the large Italian garrison, the partizans outfitted hundreds of new volunteers with Fascist-made rifles and machine guns.

The Germans, Italian Fascists and Croatian Ustachi (Elite hero guard of Dictator Ante Pavlovich) counterattacked and the partizans were compelled to retreat from both Fiume and nearby Susak. However, they fought bravely. Like the Russians these Yugoslavs know how to die.

Zara, the Italian town on the Yugoslav mainland 80 miles from the Italian frontier at Fiume, changed hands Sept. 9, but only from Italian to German.

South of Zara the main towns of Sibenik, Split, Metkovic and Dubrovnik now have German garrisons, but a 41-mile stretch of coastline, bounded by Omis and Optizen, is almost completely partizan.

The fall of Split on the night of Sept. 27-28 was the most serious defeat administered by the German counterattack.

Eight thousand Italian troops were in Split when the Badoglio government formally quit the war. The partizans swooped into the city and stripped the Italians of all arms.

A number of anti-Fascist engineers, artillerymen and signal experts in the Italian ranks volunteered for the partizan force, and were accepted because the partizans needed instruction in operating confiscated Italian equipment.

Every male in Split who volunteered was given Italian arms—an action which the partizans now describe as a nearly fatal mistake, for "10 per cent of the population is pro-Ustachi and was only waiting for the chance to stab us from the back."

SEIZE GRAIN SHIP

A German grain ship was in the harbor and among the first deeds of the partizans was to seize the crew of 10 men.

"We shot them all," the brigadier told me.

Three small transports sent by the Italian navy to evacuate troops were caught at anchor in the harbor and one was sunk. The Italians, who probably suffered 1,000 casualties, got 2,000 men away on the surviving vessels, but left 5,000 to shift for themselves in the German-partizan battle zone.

A column from the Prinz Eugen division which had been concentrated on the highland plateau around the weather-beaten minarets on the one-time Turkish stronghold of Mostar was ordered to move upon Split.

As the enemy neared Split, Ustachi sympathizers, approximately 700 strong, suddenly turned upon the partizan garrison.

After hard skirmishing, all the partizan troops withdrew into the country and patrols were established radiating from temporary headquarters in the vicinity of Kila, four miles inland from Split. These patrols now are harassing German lines of communication which depend chiefly upon a 180-mile railway north to Fiume.

There never was any doubt about the Germans' stranglehold on the important city of Dubrovnik, too near Mostar for the partizans to attack it openly.

GREAT ANCHORAGE

The Germans are frantically trying to keep the railway to Belgrade open against repeated guerrilla raids, and are rigidly guarding the coast from Dubrovnik to Boka Motorska (Bay of Cattaro), which potentially is one of the greatest naval anchorages in the world.

Koka Motorska would be an ideal acquisition for the Allied navy, but the fact that it is in enemy hands is blamed by the partizans on Gen. Draja Mihailovic's cautious Chetniks, who were responsible for defending it.

A feud as bitter as any in the ferocious history of the Balkans burns between the partizans and the Chetniks today. The partizans allege they have documentary evidence that Mihailovic was financed and armed by the Axis, while they themselves were fighting the Germans, Italians and Ustachis with little more than bare hands.

The partizans claim that Mihailovic stands merely for the restoration of the Karageorge monarchy, Serbian hegemony over the south Slav people, and continuation of the regime which fled from the country to safety abroad.

"We want no king, we want democracy," partizans say.

"The Germans have not a big army in our country," brigade officers declared to me. "When the Allies come to help us, the Germans will be struck by four winds from all sides. Then all Yugoslavia will be free in two weeks."

U.S. air transports carried 70 tons of tungsten from China to India in a one eight-week period.

Letters to the Editor

SAWDUST

With the leading distributors of sawdust suspending operations until after the war, it would appear that little if any further sawdust will be available for consumers in Victoria unless some drastic action is taken.

I was authoritatively informed recently that large quantities of sawdust from Vancouver Island are shipped to Port Angeles in accordance with a contract of long standing, and that permission to suspend these deliveries could only be obtained from New York. I was further informed that efforts were being made to secure the necessary permission, which it was hoped would result in a much improved situation in Victoria. As things are now much worse, I conclude that these efforts were unsuccessful.

In view of the serious shortage of wood and coal, which will be very much aggravated by the withdrawal of sawdust as a fuel, I suggest that it is now time for the provincial government to take a hand to see that our own people have a first call on the fuel produced here.

An interesting point in connection with the lack of sawdust is that both fir and mixed sawdust are advertised for immediate delivery in the city of Vancouver.

Interesting Facts

FIGURES IN ASTRONOMICAL COMPUTATION are not easy for ordinary mortals to absorb. But every Canadian should find it instructive and profitable to study a few statistics as they reflect this nation's wealth in the form of bank deposits in current and savings accounts. This financial property takes on more than ordinary significance and importance in view of the Fifth Victory Loan issue, whose books will be opened on Oct. 18. The appeal is for $1,200,000,000, a record in Canadian history, and $100,000,000 in excess of the amount for which Finance Minister Isley asked last spring. That campaign ended with a total subscription of $1,306,000,000. Moreover, no fewer than 2,100,000 Canadian citizens participated, 600,000 of them coming back for more.

Some doubting Thomases may ask how it will be possible for Canada to raise $1,200,000,000 so soon after the remarkable and record performance earlier in the year. A few simple figures supply the answer to this important question: Just before the Fourth Victory Loan was launched, Canadians had on deposit in current and savings accounts in the chartered banks of Canada the sum of $3,549,000,000. As already shown by the factual statistics, they not only invested $1,306,000,000 in the future of their country; they had completely filled up the hole in their accounts and had deposited a further $80,600,000 besides. In other words, the general public, as long ago as six weeks, had in its possession $3,568,400,000 in readiness for the forthcoming issue of $1,200,000,000. And of the amount now available—which, when September figures are reported, should be considerably greater—$1,915,700,000 is in savings accounts.

This replenishment of funds between one loan and the next is no new experience. Before the First Victory Loan of May, 1941, Canadians had on deposit $2,800,000,000; they subscribed $735,000,000. By the time the Second was announced early last year, current and savings accounts stood at $2,937,000,000, or an increase of $137,000,000, despite the withdrawal of more than three-quarters of a billion seven months earlier. On the eve of the Third Victory Loan, available deposit capital had gone up to $3,275,000,000—after $845,000,000 had been withdrawn for cash subscriptions to the Second flotation; and the Third issue netted no less than $991,000,000 in individual purchases. The rest of the record is already related in the second paragraph above.

As of Aug. 31, 1943, therefore, and after having subscribed the remarkable amount of $3,879,000,000 to four Victory Loans between June, 1941, and May of this year, the people of Canada have at their disposal no less than $3,568,400,000 to meet Mr. Isley's request for a trifle more than one-third of that sum. Put it another way: The total of current and savings accounts six weeks ago was $768,400,000 in excess of the amount available for the First Victory Loan. These progressive statistics, we submit, furnish conclusive proof that the fifth of the series should be well over-subscribed before the books are closed—especially in view of the fact that at least 2,100,000 individual Canadians own these gilt-edged securities. Assuredly they will want to "Speed the Victory" with more bonds.

General Mud Takes Over

MOSCOW USED ONLY SIX WORDS IN last night's official communiqué: "No important changes occurred at the front." This is the season of the year when General Mud takes a hand; he has been mustering his "forces" during the last two weeks. He is now apparently satisfied with his "dispositions." But the Russians know all about him, when to expect him, and what to do with him. Not for two years have they come to grips with him so far westward. And the rapidity with which they have advanced since the tragedy of the Kursk salient overcame the Wehrmacht is a circumstance which must be bringing keen satisfaction to Marshal Stalin's warriors. The brief halt on the banks of the Dnieper will provide the requisite opportunity to repair lines of communication, reorganize supply, assemble new forces for the next move, and generally to take stock of all requirements for the winter campaign. The prospect is not a cheerful one for the Hitlerites.

The newspapers of the Russian capital are using this temporary breather on the front to remind the common enemy that no opportunity will be given him to "rest up" after the tension of the summer and concentrate attention on other theatres. Soviet military reviewer Col. Nikolai Akimov explains that the weakness of the operational position of the German troops makes it impossible for the Nazi command to remove any of its forces from the eastern front; on the contrary, the Germans are still obliged to use up reserves to combat the Red Army. The Moscow News editorially observes that "the advance on the European front must be continued and mainly in the west; in this way it will be possible to carry on the offensive against Hitlerite Germany and to maintain the high pace that has been set by the Red Army." In these comments, incidentally, will be discovered nothing whatsoever to feed the fears of separate peace negotiations.

It is obviously the determined intention of the Soviet high command to keep the enemy fully awake from Leningrad to the Black Sea. And it should be noted that, despite the interference by the elements, the Russian operations directed toward Vitebsk and Gomel are not likely seriously to be slowed down for long. Recent developments in the extreme southern section, moreover, indicate that as soon as climatic conditions permit, the Zaporozhe-Melitopol front will blaze up again. The Soviet high command has its eye on the substantial enemy forces in the Taman peninsula. The recapture of the Crimea and the fuller command of the Black Sea, therefore, are essential to the Russian homecoming to the great port of Odessa. Small wonder the enemy is not to be allowed to twirl his thumbs for long.

Extremely Friendly

WHEN AMBASSADOR'S PRESENT their credentials to the head of the state to which they are assigned they are at liberty either to conform to the strict proprieties without verbal embellishments, add a few pleasantries on their own account, or indulge in a warmth of felicitation bearing the hall-mark of official sanction. The new Russian minister to the United States, Mr. Andrei Gromyko, evidently was not required to employ any heart-searching technique when he appeared at the White House in Washington last Monday. With candor and cordiality personified he informed Mr. Roosevelt that the joint struggle against Germany would bring about closer collaboration between the United States and the Soviet Union after the present conflict had given place to peace. And he added categorically:

"I believe the mutual understanding and the mutual confidence between our countries which are so necessary, both during wartime and the postwar period as well, will be joined to the maximum degree in the fire of our joint military efforts."

In amplification of these extremely friendly and practical sentiments, Mr. Gromyko assured the President that Allied successes in Europe and north Africa had created a favorable military-political situation for inflicting "decisive blows" against Germany, and that it was "now clear that the war is turning in favor of the United Nations"—although the "exertion of the total strength of our countries and also of all the United Nations" would be required to deliver the big blow. The final note which the new ambassador struck—that the Soviet government was deeply appreciative of and desired to express its "warm gratitude" for the material aid received from the United States—will have set at rest many qualms in some quarters in the neighboring republic. And there was no double-talk in Mr. Gromyko's intimation that the closest collaboration with the American people "constitutes the unswerving desire and aspiration" of the Soviets. To all of which Mr. Roosevelt replied with no whit less sincerity that since the beginning of the German attack on Russia it "has been and is the unswerving intention" of the United States to lend maximum assistance to the Russian armies and the Russian people.

If the recent recall of Mr. Litvinov had caused misgivings in the official and public mind, the suggestion of which, by the way, was no compliment to Russian sagacity or intelligence, this initial exchange between his successor and Mr. Roosevelt will have removed them. What is more important still, Mr. Gromyko's spontaneous cordiality, coupled as it was with the governmental assurances, would also seem to be a happy augury for the forthcoming conferences between the political heads of the Anglo-American-Russian coalition.

Japanese Barbarism

AUSTRALIAN WAR CORRESPONDENT Allan Dawes has returned to Melbourne from the New Guinea war zone with his own views of the recent execution of an Allied airman by the Japanese. His comments are worth repeating here because they ought to be especially noted by those elements on this continent who, from time to time, confuse their thinking under a too general concept of what constitutes racial warfare. Let Mr. Dawes' words speak for themselves:

"I've seen and heard evidence of Japanese barbarity, but this is beyond anything I have ever heard of in the way of atrocities. The Japanese is not a man; he's a beast. The fifth and stench of his camp gives an idea of the type of animal we are fighting. Outside base areas the Red Cross means nothing to him. One dressing station to my knowledge has been bombed at least 17 times."

What is often forgotten by the "be-kind-to-the-Japanese" brigade is that the sons of Nippon, as former United States ambassador Joseph C. Drew has explained in his "Report from Tokyo," have preached the racialism of their own utter superiority to the rest of mankind. But they ignore the fact that "the other peoples of Asia do not covet the doubtful glory of being Japan's creatures and are little concerned about the claims to or aspiration for racial superiority." From correspondent Dawes' account of what he saw and heard we get another idea of Nipponese "superior culture."

Notes

The trouble with success is that you have to waste your life in order to win it.

The good you will get in the future from the money you make now depends on the amount you invest in Victory Bonds now.

Any race confesses its inferiority when it claims credit, as the Japs do, for the inventions and achievement of another.

THE REAL MYSTERY

IF I WERE in Mr. Stalin's place—which, at the moment, seems a somewhat unlikely development—I would laugh myself to sleep every night at American journalists who keep referring to Russia as the great mystery of these times, the doubtful factor, the universal question mark. For, of course, the great mystery, doubt and question mark of the times is the United States. Stalin's real trouble is that he does not know and cannot know what the Americans are going to do after the war.

The action of the United States Senate in holding up the Fulbright resolution already passed by the House of Representatives must have made Mr. Stalin more doubtful than ever. The lower House of Congress has solemnly resolved on international co-operation after the war in language general but nevertheless clear beyond possibility of misunderstanding. But the Senate hesitates, pigeonholes the lower House's resolution and decides to take its time. And it is the Senate, not the lower House, which makes American foreign policy, which must approve all treaties by a two-thirds majority, which wrecked the League of Nations and which will largely determine the future of the United States and the democratic world.

The fate of all of us lies with a handful of U.S. Senators who, up to now, have not distinguished themselves by their understanding of history.

BAD TIME

THE SENATE'S HESITATION on the Fulbright resolution comes at about the worst possible time. Just as Mr. Hull is about to go to Moscow and seek a long-term understanding with Mr. Stalin, the Senate intimates that it is going to take its time, will not be rushed into any commitment about international co-operation, and may not make any commitment at all.

Thus you can imagine Mr. Stalin welcoming Mr. Hull as an internationalist but asking him politely if he is making a firm offer, backed by his nation; or whether he has come, like Wilson to Paris, with the highest possible resolves on his own behalf and no assurance of carrying them out at home.

With me, Mr. Stalin may well say to Mr. Hull, you personally are okay. But what about the Senate? What happens if one vote more than a third of that body decides not to play ball after the war? Where does that leave Russia? Doesn't it leave Russia about where a similar development left France some 20 years ago?

At the moment Mr. Hull cannot answer that question. He is not in the position of a British Foreign Secretary, whose word binds the nation, unless a bare majority of the House of Commons throws the government out. Mr. Hull is not even a member of Congress. His chief, the President, cannot bind Congress to anything. At the moment he is the prisoner of Congress, of an alliance between the reactionary wing of his own party and the Republicans.

QUEER MECHANISM

NOTHING COULD MORE clearly indicate the weakness of the American system of checks and balances as the present crisis in the world history, in the hour when the shape of the world is being determined for generations to come. Our system, with the government sitting in the Legislative chamber and responsible to it and able to speak for it, is proving a far more practical system than the American system of divorcing the executive from the Legislative. The American system is checking and balancing itself into frustration.

It is no wonder that many thoughtful Americans want to change their system and adopt in part at least our British system, but they have no hope of doing it; not for a long, long time, and history will not wait. Mr. Stalin will not wait. Britain, if suddenly faced with the end of the war and the need of making a settlement in Europe, cannot wait for the U.S. Senate.

This is not to argue for a moment that the United States is going to return to isolationism. This reporter became satisfied as early as 1940, when he visited a large part of that country, that the United States was finished with isolationism for good because it had no option: There is nothing now to change that opinion but everything to the contrary. Every indication of public opinion—up to and including Isolationist Dewey's proposal of a British-American-Russian-Chinese alliance—shows that the American people have at last realized the obvious fact that they have been involved in every world war in their history, the Napoleonic Wars, the First World War and the Second.

The people's judgment is sound enough. But the people's judgment was sound enough in 1920 also. They wanted then to enter the League of Nations. They elected a Republican government pledged to collective security. The Senate by more than a two-thirds majority, approved the League Covenant with reservations and finally rejected it by a minority. A majority of the nation and a majority of Congress wanted to do the sensible thing. But it was not done. The ponderous machinery of legislation, with its incredible two-thirds-majority provision, could not keep up with the minds of the people and finally betrayed them.

All this could happen again. There are certainly American politicians of influence who today are lying in wait to murder the next peace treaty as their predecessors did the last one. Today, when events rush towards the great climax of history, the question remains unanswered. The Kremlin looks to the Canitot and wonders. And the American people complain about the mystery and secrecy of the Russians!

War's Compensations

From New York Times

FORTUNATELY, it is a commonplace human trait to insist upon making the best of things as they are. Forced by scarcity to do without, we immediately begin to rationalize the situation and discover that we are better off, really, for the deprivation.

The list of current blessings can be extended almost indefinitely, of course. The good servant is a pearl of unadorned price. But so many of them are bad. Many a household is now doing without, and liking it. Peaceful, dusty quiet has settled down and the butter and meat go twice as far.

So hopeless is the prospect of finding a yard man in the suburbs that most people don't even start to look. They put on old clothes, inventory the garden tools and start raking and burning.

SOME TIME FOR BOOKS

The summer vacation spent at home, offered an excellent chance to catch up on back reading, of which there is, happily, no dearth. A great many persons make the mistake of reading only one book at a time. This system is satisfactory, perhaps, for the very busy person, but is not for the man who has a whole idle day on his hands, to be followed by a dozen other delightfully idle days.

The reader who settles down for a reading holiday should have a broad, low table at his side piled high with at least a dozen well-chosen volumes ranging from detective story to the latest serious book on the war. In between should be a few novels, a thin volume or two of poetry, and some anthologies of essays.

He should, from time to time, call in his wife from the kitchen to hear choice bits as he comes upon them in his reading, and if her work permits, she might on occasion join him and enjoy some reading on her own account. It will be only cricket if he interrupts his vacation three times a day to don an apron and dry the dishes.

Just as the vacationing motorist travels most pleasantly who avoids setting up in advance a rigid schedule of destinations, so is the stay-at-home wise to shun an itinerary of expected accomplishments. There are those who, in spite of the counsel of past failures, set down for themselves a calendar of worthwhile labors they plan to perform while on domestic holiday. The only possible result of such planning is disappointment and disillusion.

There will be those, say, who decide they will do a bit of house painting. They may even go so far as to order paint, brushes, turpentine, sandpaper and patching plaster in advance, preparing for the evil day. But something is almost sure to come up to thwart these well-laid plans; and it is better so.

Far better to yield to the armchair, improve the mind and refresh the spirit.

AND CHEAPER, TOO

It is amazing how little money will be spent on a vacation trip of this nature, which involves only the leisurely travel from room to room as appetite and a 10 o'clock bedtime decree. The economy of it may even, in about the second week, begin to grow monotonous. A sense of well-being and rested good health would, in such case, prompt an offer to take the little woman out to dinner and a theatre, just as in the old days—when you did more courting than you do of late. This is all to the good. You will feel the better for it. The woman of the house should, if it is feasible, have a vacation too.

The weakness of the stronger sex for the weaker sex shows the weaker sex is the stronger sex.

October 7, 1918—The British advanced north of the Scarpe River and took Oppy and Blache St. Vaast, as the French troops occupied Berre-au-Bac and the Americans made gains in the Argonne forest. French marines entered Beyrouth, chief seaport of Syria.

FLOWER OF OUR YOUTH

From Montreal Star

The decision of the government not to publish complete casualty lists should not for one moment tend to encourage in any way the spirit of forgetfulness of the sacrifices that our boys are making by day and by night around the world for our sakes. While it is good news that the loss of life among the Canadian troops in Sicily has been moderate, considering the number of troops engaged and the nature of the fighting, we know that many stout-hearted young Canadians will return more to their homes and families throughout this Dominion.

We know that the Royal Canadian Air Force has been paying a steady toll, that the Canadian navy has also contributed its sacrifice of life. Not a day passes but some Canadian home is stricken by sad news from overseas. This is a young man's war. It is the very flower of our youth that is bearing the brunt of the fighting and gallantly meeting death that we may live in freedom.

The realization of this sad truth should surely be an all-powerful stimulus to us at home to so conduct ourselves in word and deed as to be worthy of the sacrifices that have been and will, alas! still have to be made before peace returns to a war-stricken world.

Return Frank H. Davey

Saanich Progressive Conservative Association, at its annual meeting Wednesday night in Macdonald Hall, re-elected Frank H. Davey to the presidency.

Other officers elected follow: Maj. L. H. MacQueen, first vice-president; Arthur Frayne, second vice-president; Geo. MacGregor, third vice-president; Mrs. H. A. Giles, secretary-treasurer; executives, G. Finbow, F. A. Fink, Mrs. A. Villers, T. Young; auditors, Mrs. G. MacGregor and Mrs. N. Dealey.

The meeting endorsed the resolution of Nanaimo Progressive Conservative Association asking the Federal government to see that no Japanese, no matter where they were born, are allowed to live in Canada after the war.

Guest speaker was Col. Macgregor Macintosh, former M.L.A. for the Islands.

Col. Macintosh spoke in favor of compulsory voting. This had been successful in Australia, he said, and 98 per cent of the people now vote, whereas formerly not more than 60 per cent of the electorate used the franchise. There is a small fine for those who cannot produce adequate reason for not voting. Col. Macintosh thought the result of the polling in Revelstoke some months ago might have been different had 500 people, who did not vote, gone to the polls.

Percy Bengough Urges Unions To Hang Together

Facing tremendous reconstruction problems when peace arrives, labor unions have to hang together during the war or just hang separately after it, Percy Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada told members of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council at their meeting Wednesday night.

He referred to the difficulties that would arise when 1,000,000 war workers found war work ended and 750,000 in the forces came back to civil life.

With major development in production methods, there would not be a great deal of work to share among those seeking re-establishment, Mr. Bengough said. He did not think there would be enough to go around even on a five day 30-hour week.

Reviewing a hectic year characterized by dissatisfaction over federal labor policies, Mr. Bengough noted war conditions had given ministers far greater power than they enjoyed in peacetime. He attacked the "lack of labor policy" of the present minister and charged the Dominion Labor Department with fostering company unions.

Companies operating under the munitions department were guaranteed noninterference by the government and had become more powerful in war industries than the elected representatives of the people, he said, since directors of such crown companies had the power to give or withhold orders and work. Faced with possible interference, they threatened to walk out, he said.

WANT EQUAL REPRESENTATION
He supported labor's demand for equal representation on production boards and declared the boards as they now stood provided the machinery for fascism when the war ended.

Mr. Bengough attacked the federal health insurance scheme as a closed shop proposition for the medical profession. "We like a closed shop," he said, "but we don't say when we go into anything we want to hog it all."

Labor's only responsibility under the scheme, he said, lay in paying the bill.

He was introduced by Birt Showler, Vancouver, vice-president of the congress, and thanked by Charles Chivers.

The council heard Dr. J. M. Thomas, Mt. View High School, express the hope Victoria delegates from the B.C. Teachers' Federation would soon be admitted to the Trades and Labor Council.

A Vancouver resolution seeking support for a move to give 15-year-olds the franchise was tabled.

A move to have civilian defence workers decline to work overtime until dockyard employees received holidays with pay was endorsed.

COAL CONFERENCE
Appointment of two delegates to an all-union conference in Vancouver Oct. 10 on the coal miners' claims for better conditions and higher wages was authorized. W. Caird and George Wilkinson will represent the council.

The meeting supported a move to have skin and eye trouble reported due to use of a newtype fibre-glass insulation in shipyards classified as a vocational disease for compensation purposes, backed a motion to investigate enforced payment of poll tax by ex-service personnel released for health reasons without going overseas and learned a meeting would be held shortly between local shipyard employees and management on curtailed production.

Endorsement was given moves to have a yellow line divide the highway from Victoria to Patricia Bay to relieve traffic dangers and to have the executive investigate a suggestion that compulsory unemployment insurance contributions paid by a worker before his death be turned over to the widow when he died.

M. W. Dawson May Try For Saanich Board
M. W. Dawson, chairman of the Saanich school board in 1941, and one-time member of the board for four years, announced today he may seek re-election to the board in the forthcoming municipal vote. Mr. Dawson said he had not made up his mind completely.

Four seats on the board will be open to candidates at the municipal election next December. They are three two-year terms of office, left vacant by the recent resignation of F. Tupman and the completion of the terms of Martin Neilson, chairman, and Mrs. E. M. Bryce, and one one-year seat caused by the resignation of Trustee J. R. L. Burridge.

Mr. Dawson, formerly retired, now a crane operator at Yarrow's Ltd., was defeated at the polls in 1942.

Dependents' Bills Reviewed By Agnew At Hospitals Parley

Inability of hospitals to collect bills from soldiers' dependents has become one of the major problems arising from wartime conditions, Dr. Harvey Agnew, secretary of the Canadian Hospital Council, pointed out to delegates of the 26th annual convention of B.C. Hospitals, in session at the Empress Hotel. In a comprehensive report on the basis of discussion between the Dependents' Board of Trustees and the Canadian Hospital Council, Dr. Agnew itemized seven main clauses.

Although the board will under no circumstances accept automatic liability for hospital accounts of dependents, it will facilitate submission of applications as far as possible, continuing its present policy of investigating each case to determine amount of assistance to be granted. Account rendered to board will be on basis of a public ward pay-g patient. Other clauses further clarified method of payment to hospitals in these indigent cases.

Explaining that the board hitherto has not been prepared to pay dependents' hospitalization costs unless application is received direct from patient, Dr. Agnew said hospitals often suffered by the unwillingness of the patient to apply for assistance.

J. V. Fisher, second vice-president, moved that hospitals be empowered to apply to the government themselves for payment of soldiers' bills.

"The least the government can do for soldiers, who are truly wards of the crown, is to care for them and their dependents and in cases where payment is impossible in the family, their bills should be paid by the crown," he said.

He referred to the Dependents' Board, which is a branch of the Department of National Defence. Mr. Fisher also spoke in favor of standardization of soldiers' payments across Canada, a matter brought up and discussed by Dr. A. K. Haywood, Vancouver, who said there is some promise of action from Ottawa shortly on this question.

STAFF SHORTAGE

The second portion of Dr. Agnew's general survey of the hospital situation dealt mainly with current shortage of personnel.

Particularly serious has been the loss of highly-skilled operating-room supervisors, trained technicians and other key members of the staff, he said, aggravated by increased activity of hospitals. The latter he attributed to overcrowding, lack of domestic help, and shortage of doctors.

High priority is given by National Selective Service to hospital workers, he explained, females especially being given highest possible rating.

Higher wages in other industries has necessitated the same move for hospitals, in some cases as high as 50 per cent, Dr. Agnew noted. Hours have been shortened, living conditions improved and other details adjusted to benefit employees.

WANT PAY STANDARDIZED

Recommending that wages for a given type of work be standardized within a region to prevent restless moving from job to job, the Canadian Hospital Council has petitioned the National War Labor Board, that hospitals be subsidized if necessary, that strikes and unjustifiable absenteeism be declared illegal; that employees should be frozen to that type of employment; and that key individuals should not be accepted for enlistment without consultation of proper hospital authorities.

In appreciation of voluntary workers, Dr. Agnew said: "The public generally does not realize the deep debt of gratitude it owes to the boards of hundreds of voluntary and municipal hospitals, who gave freely of time, thought, and often substance, that the public can be assured of adequate and efficient hospital facilities. The withdrawal of this voluntary assistance by baseless criticism of outsiders would result in a loss serious beyond comprehension to the welfare of the people."

Suggesting that hospitals should consider appointment of personnel officer, and greater employment of part-time personnel as solution to the wartime labor problem, Dr. Agnew said nurses particularly could be relieved of all but specialized duties by employment of older people, high school students and volunteer workers for orderly duties.

Promising that the National Health Survey conducted last spring by the Canadian Medical Procurement and Assignment Board was "the most valuable study of hospital facilities in Canada ever compiled," Dr. Agnew said he hoped to receive federal consent to its publication shortly.

"Hospitals will become public health centres," he contended, "under nationwide health insurance. If the measure goes through in its present form I think voluntary hospitals will be safeguarded."

Under the state medicine plan offered by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, Dr. Agnew was less optimistic.

"Voluntary hospitals, both religious and lay, might survive under state medicine but I doubt it. The strongest possible protection for the voluntary hospital is the model provincial act," he stated.

By PETE SALLAWAY

BOSSING the New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals in the current world baseball series are two managers that are opposites in many ways. Yet Joe McCarthy of the Yankees and Billy "the Kid" Southworth of the Cards attain the same goal. Both bring the ability and capacity of their clubs to a meeting point.

McCarthy is the old line type of manager who takes great pains never to work a pitcher out of turn. McCarthy will leave a pitcher who is being hit in the box longer than Southworth, who is perhaps quicker on the trigger in every sense. Naturally, the Yankees head man will spend up pitching decisions in the series, but his main idea throughout the season is to build up confidence and avoid jitters. But one would never have thought so in that first game. McCarthy hides in the dugout without a number on his back. Southworth is always much in evidence in the third coaching box with a number as big as any of his Cards.

Southworth is out of the dugout with the slightest lapse of a St. Louis pitcher. There follows a brief colloquy, and out comes the pitcher with the next false move.

Southworth obviously considers that one of the secrets of successful managing is to know exactly when to yank a pitcher.

The younger Cardinals reflect their dashing manager. They are the more highly strung. Although they are the world champions, they lack the poise and looseness of the Yankees, who act like their cold and calculating manager. The Cardinals are fiery and full of fight. The Yankees simply play their game, let the other fellows worry about themselves.

The deader ball this year had all good managers playing closer to the book than heretofore.

Even with Country Slaughter gone, Southworth possesses more power than he had in 1942. Yet he has been ultra conservative at times this season. He had batters sacrifice in early innings, gambled that his pitcher could hold a one run lead.

McCarthy has been unable to turn on clusters of runs as he has in years gone by, yet he is still inclined to go for the long one. This no doubt is due to the presence in his batting order of more potential home run manufacturers than any other club can boast, not the least of whom is King Kong Keller.

There was a grand example of McCarthy shooting for the works in the ninth inning of Spud Chandler's 14th inning pennant clincher against the Detroit Tigers. Two men filed out and the third grounded out with a runner on first base. No attempt was made to sacrifice, and this held true when the winning run was scored.

Figures don't always tell the story. The Yankees are not nearly as fast as the Cardinals, yet have stolen more bases. The Cardinals swiped less bases this year than they did last. Southworth explains that the Red Birds are baserunners, not basestealers. They hit and run, etc. With men on base there is a sign on every pitch.

The managing of Joe McCarthy and Billy Southworth stresses the value of club spirit.

Plan Sandlot Baseball World Series

Canada-U.S. Champs Meet

TORONTO (CP) — Plans for a "world series" in 1944 between Canadian and United States sandlot baseball champions were approved today by the National Baseball Congress following conferences here between president Ray Dumont of Wichita, Kas., and Lloyd Douglas of Toronto, Canadian commissioner of sandlot baseball.

A congress announcement said the first three games of the best-of-seven series will be held in the United States city which is host to the 1944 American sandlot champions. These games have been scheduled for Aug. 29, 30 and 31.

The finalists will resume the series in Canada, starting Sept. 2 in the city host to the 1944 Dominion champions.

Expenses of both clubs will be paid by the National Congress and a percentage of gross gate receipts will be awarded to the participating teams.

Playdowns will be held in all Canadian provinces with provincial winners eligible to compete starting Aug. 3 in the third annual national tournament at Toronto, which will determine the Canadian representative in the sandlot world series.

Joe Louis On Tour

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Sgt. Joe Louis, world heavyweight champion, arrived at Jefferson Barracks Tuesday on his army boxing tour and met a soldier with whom he is well acquainted—Cpl. Billy Conn.

Conn, outstanding challenger, was transferred to the barracks just in time to greet Louis, who will appear in a boxing exhibition at the post. Conn will not be his opponent.

The two men met professionally in New York, June 18, 1941. Louis knocked out Conn in 13 rounds.

Rice and wheat flour are now rationed in all cities in India of 100,000 population or over.

Heading for Trouble

Penn back Joe Kane, after running around end for a six-yard gain, is about to run into the waiting clutches of Princeton back, George O'Brien, who has sidestepped Kane's interference. Smooth-running Penn team smothered the Tigers in their Franklin Field game with a 47 to 9 victory.

Salmonbellies in Canadian Final

Turn Back Flyers 23-15

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—The west's most storied lacrosse team, New Westminster Salmonbellies, will go against the defending champion Mimico-Brampton Combies Saturday night in the first game of a best-of-five series for the Mann Cup and Dominion senior boxla title which they have won only once in their last four tries in 1937.

The Bellies won the right to go into the national final by handing a game but outclassed Patricia Bay R.C.A.F. squad 23 to 15 beating Wednesday night in the third game of the B.C. lacrosse finals to take the series two games to one. The Flyers had won the first game 23 to 13 in a surprise upset but Salmonbellies took the second contest 12 to 10.

This year will mark Salmonbellies' fifth attempt to take the Mann Cup, which hasn't been in the west since New Westminster Adanacs won it in 1939.

Wednesday night's game was somewhat like the opening battle of the series when the Pat Bay airmen handed the touted Fishermen an upset—only with the picture reversed.

CLOSING RALLY

Taking no chances the local squad had built up an 11 to 5 lead at halftime and were outscored in only one quarter, the third, after a bell-time goal by Bill Wilkes was disallowed. Even then they enjoyed a 15 to 10 advantage and staged a final-quarter scoring rush which produced eight goals against five for the airmen and left the Islanders decisively beaten.

The veteran Bill Wilkes was the Salmonbellies star with three goals and seven assists while Bob Phelan was the Flyers' spark plug, scoring five goals.

Second game of the Mann Cup final with the eastern champions will be played Monday with the third Wednesday night. The fourth and fifth games, if necessary, will be played Friday, Oct. 15 and Monday, Oct. 18.

Night School Opens, Enrolment 250

Approximately 250 students, a number far below last year but up to expectations for the reduced courses offered this term, enrolled for Victoria's Night School at its opening Tuesday night.

Dressmaking and commercial classes were exceptionally well patronized, George Anstey, superintendent, reported.

Two courses, one in sheet-metal drafting and the other in mechanical drafting, both of which are geared for industrial use here, required further students to justify continuation, Mr. Anstey said. Unless another half-dozen registers for each, they may be dropped after Thursday, he said.

The Spanish course and that in practical mathematics could also stand more students, the superintendent added.

Medal for Rescuer

LONDON (CP)—AB. Thomas Charles Newton of the Royal Navy has been awarded the British Empire Medal for "courage and endurance" in diving repeatedly into the sea and rescuing at least six men when the Canadian corvette, Weyburn was sunk in February. Newton also hung on the side of the lifeboat for an hour when it became filled with men from the Canadian ship.

Even Kings and Queens Used to Hold Meat With Their Fingers

Forks were used to pitch hay long before they were seen on the dinner table. Farmers worked with large forks hundreds of years before anyone had the idea that small forks could be used to transfer food to the mouth.

People had fingers, and why should they think about forks? They were content to pick up meat with their hands and put it where it was supposed to go. They had knives to cut the meat and spoons for soup, and it seemed that they needed nothing else.

Of course it was a bit "messy" to eat meat in that way, but finger bowls were passed around. People dipped their fingers, perhaps their whole hands, to get them clean. A towel was provided to wipe the hands after they were washed in the bowl of water.

So it went for century after century. Even kings and queens handled meat with their fingers. Several years ago an interesting moving picture about Henry VIII was produced, and the king made away in a hurry with chickens, and other food. The picture was quite right in showing Henry raising meat to his mouth with his hands.

Many persons who saw the picture felt that Henry was using bad table manners when he ate in that way, but what else was he to do? England had no table forks in those days!

The table fork idea came to England about 60 years after Henry VIII died. So far as is known, it was brought in from Italy.

An Englishman made a visit to Italy and sent back a letter about eating customs. In short form, here is what he said:

"The Italians always use a little fork when they eat their meals. It is bad manners to put the fingers to the meat dish, and worse manners to carry the meat from the dish with the fingers."

The man who wrote the letter was Thomas Coryate. When he returned to England he brought forks with him and used them at his table. As a result people called him by the nickname of "Fork."

Inside half a century, however, table forks became fairly common among the English. They were made with from two to six prongs, and had handles which were painted green, pink or yellow.

Dorothy Dix:

Dear Dorothy Dix: What do you think of soldiers' brides who continue to have boy friends with whom they go out on necking parties, yet say they are being true to their husbands? What do men and boys think of a girl who will allow such familiarities while her soldier husband is off fighting for his country?

A DAILY READER.

Certainly any wife who had a particle of affection for her husband, or a spark of patriotism in her, would not wish to add to the hardships that he is undergoing on some battlefield by keeping him tormented with jealousy by picturing her in the arms of another man. It is because so many soldiers have their morale shot to pieces by their anxiety about what their wives are doing while they are away from them that makes the high commands in the army frown on war marriages.

Polish Artist Pays Visit Here

Because the Rocky Mountains are "just like home," Rafal Malczewski and his wife plan to make their home in the west for the duration.

Rafal Malczewski is a noted Polish artist, who, with Mme. Malczewski, was forced to flee from their home in the Carpathian Mountains in 1939. At the present time they are visiting Victoria, registered at the Empress.

The artist was born in Krakow, Poland, in 1892, and his father was one of Poland's greatest painters. When Rafal, after studying philosophy and architecture, decided to take up painting, his father became his teacher.

He studied at Vienna Academy, and his paintings were exhibited in many international exhibitions in Scandinavia, Italy, Balkan countries, France, Germany and Russia. He was awarded Golden Laurels by the Polish Academy, and the Golden Medal at the Paris Exhibition in 1937.

He has exhibited also in Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh, New York International Exhibition, and many others. At the present time his paintings are being shown in Spencer's Art Gallery in Vancouver.

Both he and Mme. Malczewski are deeply appreciative of the hospitality that they have received in Canada.

"Your western hospitality is by no means exaggerated," says Mme. Malczewski. "People are so friendly here."

The artist himself expresses the gratitude of all refugee peoples for the freedom and smoothness with which affairs are transacted in Canada, terming it "lack of bureaucracy — so nice."

Churches Will Aid In Conserving Fuel

Victoria church organizations are prepared to co-operate in any way possible to cut down the consumption of fuel this winter, it was stated this morning by Maj. Roy McCaughey, president of the Victoria Ministerial Association.

The matter was discussed at a meeting of the association executive and is coming up again at a luncheon of the full association in the Y.W.C.A. Friday, he said. It was brought up when the fuel controller made a public appeal to the churches of Canada to set an example this winter by reducing fuel consumption.

In some instances Maj. McCaughey said, some of the smaller churches are planning to amalgamate their meetings. He stated that last year there were a number of measures taken to cut down fuel consumption and the churches are prepared to go even further this year.

Although supplies of fuel have not been plentiful, to date, he said, church organizations have had no difficulty in obtaining sufficient fuel for their needs. "We ran pretty close to the line most of the time, but always managed to have enough," he said.

Some of the suggestions for conserving fuel made by the controller are: Hold meetings on consecutive days, hold joint meetings whenever possible, hold choir practices in smaller rooms, meet in private homes where possible, keep temperatures down, shut off heat in all unused rooms, use cheaper grade fuel, have efficiency of heating plant checked, keep windows closed, and make sure firing methods are efficient.

Price Fined $50

A $50 fine was imposed by Magistrate H. C. Hall today on John Price, promoter of a boxing card here last July 6, who pleaded guilty of conducting the event without authorization in writing required by the War Charities Act.

Price, on the request of his counsel, M. B. Jackson, K.C., was given until Oct. 21 to pay.

In passing sentence Magistrate Hall said he was not altogether satisfied with the financial statement of the fight made by Price. "I feel details of the statement now having been given should be checked by Dominion government authorities," he said. "Until such check is made, and a further charge is laid if necessary, I'm not going to impose a penalty on the lack of good faith or otherwise of the defendant."

Mr. Jackson said that out of approximately $350 profit from the fights, Syd Beech, financial backer, had paid provincial taxes of $154.21 and Dominion taxes of $337.64.

Victoria Choral Union's first rehearsal for the forthcoming season will be held Friday evening at 8:30 in Memorial Hall.

Board Sets New Poultry Prices

All live and dressed poultry was today brought under new schedule and prices, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announced, with the new prices, which will be approximately the same to consumer as those prevailing before the order, to be effective immediately.

The wholesale price is increased and the retail mark-up decreased, which means that the consumer will pay approximately the same price as before for poultry, the Wartime Prices Board stated on release of the order.

Prices are established according to zones with Zone No. 7, comprising most of British Columbia and including the lower part of Vancouver Island. Packing periods for various kinds of poultry remain the same as in preceding orders. Those sections of the province not in zone areas may ship poultry f.o.b. shipping points to these districts.

The mark-up which a retailer is permitted to add is now 20 per cent of his selling price or 7c a pound, whichever is the lesser. The former mark-up was 9c a pound.

"The sale of drawn poultry (eviscerated) has been prohibited by the new order, but a retailer at customer's request, may 'draw' a bird; the charge for causality is not to be more than 10c a bird, provided the bird has first been weighed and sold in regular dressed manner," the board release stated.

Packing periods for chickens (roasters or fryers), capons or poultards) is Sept. 1 to Dec. 31; for chickens (broilers) April 1 to Sept. 30; for fowl (hens), July 1 to Sept. 30; turkeys (young hens or young toms), Nov. 1 to Dec. 31, and for turkeys (old hens), Nov. 1 to Dec. 31. Here are some of the wholesale prices for boxed, graded, dressed poultry during the packing period for zone 7:

Chickens (roasters or fryers)—Special grade, milk fed, 36c; special grade, 34c; A grade, 33c; B grade, 31c.

Chickens (capons or poultards)—2c per pound over maximum prices for chickens (fryers or roasters).

Chickens (broilers)—Special grade, milk fed, 38c; special grade, 36c; A grade, 35c; B grade, 33c.

Fowl (hens)—A grade, 28c; B grade, 26c.

Turkeys (young hens or young toms)—Special grade, 39c; A grade, 38c; B grade, 36c; C grade, 33c.

Turkeys (old hens)—Three cents per pound over maximum prices for turkeys (young hens and young toms).

Monthly meeting of Saanich School Board, at which it was expected action would be taken on the long-simmering controversy over the conduct of Dr. J. Morris Thomas, principal of Mount View High School, was postponed late Wednesday until Friday.

The meeting was called off because Trustee Mrs. Fransine Patterson suffered a hand injury which incapacitated her. Since the resignation of Trustees F. Tupman and J. L. R. Burridge the three remaining members of the board must attend to form a quorum.

The resolution sets a limit of $1,500 on payments to be made if the request is granted.

Postmaster George Gardiner announces there will be no deliveries by letter-carrier or by rural mail Thanksgiving Day, Oct. 11. Wickets at the Post Office will be open from 8 to noon. Evening street letter-box collections only will be made, but all mails will be dispatched as usual.

Theft of a radio set, and two tires and wheels was reported by Esquimalt police Wednesday, while W. McKay told city police a spare tire had been stolen from his car. Theft of a gasoline ration book from his truck was reported to city police by I. D. Hoskins, Mount Newton Crossroad.

The 114th Company, Veterans Guard of Canada, under Maj. McIlree, D.S.O., on Sunday last carried out a successful light machine-gun shoot at the summer home of Col. Brooke Stephenson at Beecher Bay. Plenty of ammunition, including tracer, was available, and valuable experience gained. Nearly all ranks also had their first opportunity of firing the boys' anti-tank rifle. Next Sunday the Sooke platoon of the same company, under Lieut. Gillatt, will hold a similar practice somewhere on the Sooke coastline.

Hospitals Uphold Right to Set Rates

E. S. Withers, New Westminster, reporting Wednesday on the meeting between Workmen's Compensation Board and B.C. hospitals, said it was the right of the hospitals to set their own rates in all cases. This important point came up after Compensation Board suggested that the board should have some control since they paid the bills.

Danger of imparting information illegally was discussed at length, Mr. Withers revealed, in connection with the issuance of patients' hospital histories for perusal by the board. Hon. G. S. Pearson is working on an amendment to the Hospital Act to afford the necessary protection, he said.

Voluntary increase in the daily rate paid the hospitals by the board to the extent of 50c a day for workmen injured after July 1, has proved satisfactory, though it was suggested to E. S. Winn, chairman, that greater monetary recognition for special services be given.

Only half the hospitals in B.C. are taking advantage of the optional protection for coverage of pulmonary tuberculosis. Since this has become a compensable disease under the Workmen's Compensation Act, Mr. Withers said every hospital in the province should conform to medical examinations for hospital servants.

Mr. Withers made his report on behalf of A. H. J. Swencinsky, St. Paul's; Joseph McKenna, St. Joseph's; George Masters, Vancouver General; A. MacLean, North Vancouver General, and E. W. Neel, secretary of the B.C. Hospitals' Association.

Would Make Party 'Strictly Coalition'

VANCOUVER — Progressive Conservatives of British Columbia, gathering here for their annual meeting tomorrow, are considering a resolution urging formation of a strictly Coalition party to oppose the C.C.F. in this province. W. J. Johnson, president of Revelstoke Progressive Conservative Association, is armed with instructions from Conservatives in his district to support such a move.

Revelstoke Conservatives, who have good reason to know from bitter first-hand experience what can happen to old-line politicians when they split in the face of the C.C.F., have told Mr. Johnson to tell the Conservative meeting that Conservatives and Liberals are inconsistent when they try coalition provincially and then oppose each other on Federal election platforms, and that B.C. cabinet ministers should be advised not to appear on Conservative or Liberal federal platforms.

"As Conservative Coalitionists go to Conservative meetings, and Liberal Coalitionists to Liberal meetings, the C.C.F. are sitting down and rubbing their hands in glee, far-sighted Conservatives are going to tell the Conservative meeting tomorrow," Mr. Johnson was told.

Receipt Mystery. City Hall Chuckle

City Hall chuckled today over the blissful disregard shown by one of its inexperienced collectors over the importance of his receipt book.

Temporarily engaged to collect water accounts, the man was given a receipt book, told how to use it and instructed to return it and his cash at the close of the day.

When the book and cash were turned in, it was audited. In the book was a blank duplicate for a receipt. The original receipt form was missing. Fearing error somewhere, the official called the temporary collector to the office, pointed to the blank receipt duplicate form and asked for an explanation.

He was given it. The collector explained he had a bad cold, had come away without a handkerchief and used the receipt as one.

"Fine or superfine?" Asked Mr. Jones

"Oh, Superfine definitely," answered Mrs. Jones.

"Hmmm, cup of something hot. Wouldn't be coffee?"

"No," answered Mrs. Jones, "though some people are still under the mistaken impression that it is a coffee substitute."

"Does it taste like coffee?" asked Mr. Jones.

"It certainly doesn't," said Mrs. Jones sharply. "And it doesn't taste like tea, either. It has a hearty flavor all its own."

"Well, if it tastes so good, probably it's not very good for me," said Mr. Jones slyly.

"It is indeed good for you. No caffeine to give you headaches or to keep you awake. Just a cup of wholesomeness..."

"It's POSTUM," cried both Mr. and Mrs. Jones at the same time.

And so Mr. Jones had no forfeit to pay. And you will pay no forfeit if you make Postum a regular mealtime beverage. Nothing in it to upset nerves or digestion. Wholesome for the whole family. Economical (costs less than a cent a cup) and easy to prepare.

There are two forms of Postum—Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup simply by adding boiling water; and Postum Cereal Beverage, prepared like coffee in pot, percolator or glass coffee-maker.
